Dean’s Foreword

To say that 2020 was a challenging year is quite an understatement. The impact of the pandemic on our students and staff, as well as our broader community, has been immense. The tertiary education sector has been particularly hard hit and will take some time to fully recover.

It is in this context that we will look back at 2020 – as a year of unprecedented upheaval and for many, great loss. However, on a more positive note, I think it is a year where the UNSW Sydney community can feel some pride. Our response was swift and effective, with the safety of our community our overwhelming objective.

Kingsford Legal Centre, as a community legal centre and clinical legal education practice, faced significant challenges in 2020. I am very proud to report that the Centre’s staff and volunteers worked proactively to find solutions to ensure that the most vulnerable members of our community continued to receive high quality legal help. Likewise, KLC staff were able to continue to provide UNSW law students with an off-site clinical experience that emphasised collaboration – no easy feat over weeks of lockdown.

KLC staff were amongst the few UNSW Sydney staff who returned to work on campus mid-2020. They did this safely by implementing the most rigorous safety standards. This meant that UNSW students were able to attend the Centre for Term 3 and gain first-hand legal practice experience. The re-introduction of students to the Centre also helped increase the Centre’s capacity to address the complex legal needs of students to the Centre also helped increase the Centre’s capacity to address the complex legal needs of students to the Centre also helped increase the Centre’s capacity to address the complex legal needs of students. The Centre was able to adapt to integrate new technologies into their work. Paperless advices, online community legal education and moving to remote advice nights have provided new ways of working and providing access to the Centre. The Centre was also successful in obtaining funding from the NSW Attorney General Department through the Community Legal Centres Program administered by Legal Aid for a 12-month COVID-19 Solicitor to assist with increased demand as a result of the pandemic.

Beyond all this pandemic-related activity, the launch of the Sexual Harassment Legal Service was a highlight of 2020. The past few years have underscored just how endemic sexual harassment is in the workplace, and in particular, in the legal profession. KLC ran its Bystander Training to the UNSW Law community, which was very well received. This will be a focus for research and collaboration, especially with respect to law reform in 2021. Likewise, KLC was able to continue to build on the Centre’s human rights work by leading a coalition of over 200 NGOs in assessing Australia’s human rights record through the United Nations Universal Periodic Review. In a year of such upheaval it is commendable that KLC continued to advance this important work.

In closing, I strongly commend and thank all KLC staff, supporters and volunteers for going above and beyond in 2020. KLC has shown resilience and adaptability in a year like no other – and continues to demonstrate UNSW’s distinctive commitment to social justice achieved through the law.

Professor Andrew Lynch
Acting Dean, UNSW Sydney Law and Justice

Director’s Report

I don’t think I ever anticipated having to reflect on leading a legal centre through a pandemic, but this was what 2020 challenged us with. It is hard to fully reflect on the year and what it means for the Centre and our work. We are still working through all the ways in which COVID-19 has affected our lives, communities, the way we work and the way we interact with each other.

The pandemic brought out the best in the Centre – in our staff, in our colleagues, pro bono partners, volunteers, students, community allies and communities. This network of supporters really overwhelmed the Centre with a willingness to work differently, to adapt and to ensure our community still had access to help. 2020 truly emphasised the strengths of these relationships to the Centre and the importance of having genuine friends in times of crisis.

It is impossible to recognise everyone that helped the Centre and supported our staff get through the year. In a million small and big ways there were moments that helped us get through the uncertainty and stress – all at a time when everyone was feeling stressed and anxious. Special recognition must go to the high-level support from our Faculty of Law colleagues, from former Dean Professor George Williams and Acting Dean Professor Andrew Lynch, who provided me with strong personal support, to our Faculty Executive Director, Fei Wong and Faculty Operations Manager Sandra Rheinbay who always took my calls (even when they were too busy) and always tried to find ways in which KLC could try and work as safely and effectively as possible. Your commitment to the work of the Centre had a huge impact on KLC’s year.

I also must express my gratitude to the amazing KLC staff who somehow managed to take the deep uncertainty and changing environment all in their stride. How our staff, led by Dianne Aragonos moved the legal practice to a remote, from home model in a matter of days is still a bit of a mystery. How they continued to provide their excellent, client focussed high quality legal advice from home is testament to their commitment and dedication. As well as adaptability we also saw the technical brilliance of KLC lawyers shine as they navigated complex legal problems rarely encountered. They also continued to think about new and emerging community need, quickly adapting to the changing environment with new factsheets and webinars to keep our community informed. Likewise, our admin team, planned both the pandemic entry and exit and worked tirelessly to iron out the many challenging issues working from home. I never knew we needed pandemic planners but we had that in spades with Roselle Nunes and Denise Wesley.

Our much-loved volunteer solicitors also embraced the challenge of our remote advice nights – and took a leap of faith with us and our telephone based advice nights. We simply could not have got through the year without their ongoing commitment to the Centre and our community.

Getting through 2020, is an achievement in itself, but the Centre also thrived. We were able to launch our Sexual Harassment Legal Service bringing together our legal expertise, passion for change and prevention in this area. We also navigated Australia’s human rights review in the Universal Periodic Review, made all the harder by COVID-19. Most importantly we continued to meet the legal need in our community at a time when there was a huge need for trusted advice. It is my hope that the great lessons of the 2020 pandemic remain for the Centre – the importance of relationships, the human connection to our work, our interdependence on each other – in the good times and the bad, that we can work together to get through the most challenging of times, and that in times of crisis help is at hand. While we would never have wished 2020 on ourselves, KLC emerges ready to engage with the big challenges of our times, while not forgetting the community we serve.

Our Legal Service Delivery Outcomes

In 2020 KLC provided:
- 1875 advices
- 45 law reform activities
- 103 legal cases
- 322 legal tasks
- 39 community legal education resources
- 32 community legal education activities
Legal Service Delivery

Each week KLC offers over 40 daytime and evening appointments for clients at our Centre and at our community outreaches. We see clients who have difficulty attending the Centre by visiting them in their home, in hospital, nursing homes or in jail. We focus on providing flexible and accessible services for our clients.

In 2020 the impact of COVID-19 radically changed our service delivery as KLC staff, pro bono partners and volunteers all moved to deliver our services from home. KLC responded to urgent community need by providing a telephone-based advice service where face to face services were suspended. None of this transition was easy or straightforward and required everyone to show huge adaptability and flexibility.

The year was challenging for our service and community at times, but has also provided us with some new opportunities, including moving to electronic services (no more paper!) and showed us ways in which volunteers could contribute to the Centre from home.

Our dedicated solicitors continued to provide our casework services from home, as well as representing clients in conciliations and hearings. All KLC staff and our supporters worked tirelessly to ensure our clients could access legal advice during the lockdown period and throughout 2020.

KLC could not have helped all these clients without the hard work and dedication of our wonderful team of solicitors, who remained cool and committed under pressure – Dianne Anagnos, Tess Deejan, Anika Will, Fiona Duane, Katrina Ironside, Emma Anderson, Sean Boxers, Rachel Gregory, Dan Thomas and Amy Colquhoun as well as our seconded solicitors from Herbert Smith Freehills Charlotte Johnstone Burt, Pip Reeves and Josh Wang. Behind the scenes there was huge amounts of flexibility, adaptability and grace under pressure from all our staff. Special mention to our amazing administrative team who moved mountains to keep the legal work going – Denise Wasley, Roselle Nunes, Gloria Bankhead and David Yalpi. Without their forward planning and logistical support we could not have met the challenges of the year as readily as we did.

We also owe huge gratitude to our roster of over 80 volunteer solicitors whose contribution allows KLC to offer evening appointments seven nights a fortnight. This volunteer contribution is crucial to the provision of high quality, free legal advice to our community and was especially critical in 2020. Our volunteers provided this advice for the bulk of 2020 from their homes and wrestled with new admin processes and the challenges of telephone appointments. We have the best volunteers!

Client comment

“There were times I was experiencing trauma from my case but there was empathy and compassion shown to me at KLC and I appreciated that. It was not clinical at all. I was very happy with the support I was provided. As an Indigenous woman, I appreciated that Emma listened to me with an open mind and I was most grateful for her respect for my cultural background.”

KLC Annual Report 2020 88
Generalist Law Clinic

KLC's generalist law practice provides legal advice and representation services on most civil law and minor criminal law matters including credit and debt, tenancy, consumer, car accidents, fines and victim's compensation. In 2020 the clinic moved to a remote model providing advice by telephone. Clients were particularly impacted by the pandemic in the areas of tenancy, credit and debt and consumer law.

Client Saved from Homelessness

The death of a loved one is a very distressing time, especially for public housing tenants. Anna asked for our help last year as she was being evicted from the home she had lived in since she was a baby due to the death of her father. Housing NSW argued that they did not know that Anna lived there, despite the fact that the unit had always been her home and she was listed as living there as a child.

This was extremely shocking and distressing for Anna, who was facing an immediate eviction from the only home she had ever known, and faced being put on a Housing NSW waitlist that could take many years to find her a new home.

KLC negotiated with Housing NSW over a long time period on behalf of Anna outlining her unique circumstances and we are delighted that Anna has been given a home very close to her family home. KLC’s intervention has saved Anna from homelessness at a time in her life that she was deeply grieving and unable to advocate for herself. She is delighted with the result and grateful for the timely help she received from KLC.

Australia’s Human Rights Scorecard

Our major focus for Law Reform in 2020 was working with the Human Rights Law Centre and Caxton Legal Centre to co-ordinate the Joint NGO submission to Australia’s 3rd Universal Periodic Review by the United Nations.

KLC’s Director, Emma Golledge, worked with an Advisory Group comprised of 16 NGOs, which provided expert guidance on the content and focus of the submission which was endorsed by 202 NGOs across Australia.

This co-ordination work brought together Kingsford’s grassroots knowledge of human rights issues for our community and our expertise in international human rights processes. The UPR is an important process in terms of measuring Australia’s progress in human rights and identifying areas for improvement. This report was influenced by the rapidly evolving human rights challenges of the pandemic, including the impact of the lockdown on vulnerable groups and movements such as Aboriginal Lives Matter.

Partnerships

In 2020 the strength of KLC’s longstanding community partnerships was evidenced as we worked together to ensure that our local community had access to services during a challenging time. At a time when many vulnerable people were struggling, we worked closely with all of our community organisation partners in 2020 – in particular our outreach partners. KLC also participated on the Board of the South Eastern Community Connect and participated in the Eastlakes Public Housing Group.

Nancy Hillier Lecture 2020

KLC Director Emma Golledge, was honoured to present as part of the Hillier lecture on the social justice opportunities and challenges for the Botany Bay Area.

Law Reform and Advocacy – Generalist Practice

KLC has a dedicated Law Reform and Policy Solicitor coordinating our law reform and policy projects, which aim to address systemic injustice and improve the lives of our disadvantaged clients and the wider community. Our law reform projects are informed by the advice and casework of the Centre. In 2020 KLC made submissions including the following:

- Submission to the Inquiry into the Australian Government’s Response to the COVID-19 Pandemic
- Submission to the NSW Housing Strategy Discussion Paper

Our Impact

Our survey of participants in the COVID & Debt seminar to Community Workers revealed:

- 88% of respondents found the session useful
- 88% of respondents felt the information was clear and to the point
- 88% of respondents felt that there was opportunity for discussion

Community Legal Education – Generalist Practice

As with all aspects of our work in 2020, COVID-19 presented huge challenges for our Community Legal Education program. However, the speed of legal changes and high community need for information meant we quickly shifted our program. The focus of our CLE in 2020 was the impact of COVID-19 and changes to laws, particularly around tenancy and debt. We moved to a webinar/online mode of delivery and this proved very popular with a major increase in participants. The online format increased accessibility for many community workers. We look forward to continuing a hybrid model of face to face and online in 2021.

In 2020 KLC:

- Developed a COVID-19 Help webpage
- Delivered seminars to international students and community workers on COVID-19 and tenancy
- Presented on Planning Ahead for older people at the Bayside Council Death Cafe event
- Presented to South Coogee public housing tenants on legal basics and where to go to for help with legal problems
- Presented to community workers on Youth Offending
- Presented on COVID-19 and Debt to community workers
- Developed a factsheet on Temporary Changes to Electronic Witnessing of Documents factsheet
Discrimination Law Clinic

KLC specialises in discrimination law and provides a state-wide service in this area of law. COVID-19 impacted our discrimination practice, particularly in the areas of race and disability discrimination. In 2020 we were grateful for the pro bono expertise of Clayton Utz who stepped into provide assistance to our discrimination clients.

Community Legal Education – Discrimination Law Practice

KLC developed 2 factsheets in 2020 in response to the pandemic. Both are available on the KLC COVID-19 Help Page on our website at klc.unsw.edu.au.

- Race Discrimination and COVID-19
- Disability Discrimination and COVID-19

Law Reform and Advocacy – Discrimination Law Practice

The discrimination practice was very busy in the law reform space in 2020 in particular around the Anti-Discrimination Amendment (Religious Freedoms and Equality Bill) 2020. KLC advocated that the Bill was not an appropriate response to the serious issue of religious discrimination.

KLC also made a submission recommending that the NSW Government reject the Anti-Discrimination Amendment (Complaint Handling) Bill 2020. In the submission KLC argued that the Bill would not provide the comprehensive reform that NSW discrimination law needs.

Assistance Animal and Disability Discrimination

KLC has seen an increase in the number of matters dealing with people who are discriminated against over the use assistance animals. Joanna suffers from anxiety and depression and her assistance dog Sparky helps her feel safe and enables her to go into public spaces to do her normal day to day tasks.

Joanna came to KLC for help after an employee of a large retail store told her Sparky had to leave the store, even though Sparky was dressed in his assistance jacket and Joanna had his identity card. Eventually a manager allowed Joanna and Sparky to stay in the store however the incident caused Joanna to feel a great deal of anxiety and resulted in her feeling great unease shopping at her local centre.

KLC helped Joanna negotiate with the store who agreed to make a donation of a few thousand dollars to a charity supportive of assistance animals as well as delivering training to every member of the store about assistance animals. The store also agreed as part of the training to provide a case study based on Joanna’s experience that included explaining how assistance animals alleviate her symptoms and describing the distress caused when assistance animals are refused entry.

Joanna was very happy with the result as she feels it not only deals with her problem, but hopefully ensures it won’t happen into the future for other people.

Client comment

“KLC is for the common man. I remain grateful to the KLC. The solicitor that represented me at the conciliation was confident and did a very good job.”

OUTCOMES

- 297 discrimination legal advices were provided to our community by KLC in 2020
- 25 discrimination representation matters
- 46 discrimination legal task assistance matters were opened in 2020
Sexual Harassment Legal Service

Advice, Advocacy, Action
In 2020 KLC brought together our long expertise and passion for sexual harassment work and launched our Sexual Harassment Legal Service. This Service brings together our statewide discrimination law service, our expertise in community legal education on sexual harassment and our passion for law and policy change in this area.

We were excited to formally launch this clinic in 2020 and look forward to working with our partners, with the legal assistance sector, pro bono sector and academy to work toward better legal and cultural responses to sexual harassment in Australia.

Community Legal Education – Sexual Harassment Legal Service
KLC believes that sexual harassment is preventable, and that key to this is education. As part of our clinical teaching to law students at UNSW we have listened to students and heard their concerns about the impact of sexual harassment on their careers and concerns about the prevalence of sexual harassment in the legal profession.

In 2020 we developed a webinar for UNSW law students that addressed sexual harassment at work and considered strategies for bystanders. We plan to run ‘Active Bystanders, Standing up Against Sexual Harassment and Bullying’ again in 2021.

Law Reform and Advocacy – Sexual Harassment Legal Service
In 2020 KLC responded to the long awaited Report by the Sex Discrimination Commissioner Respect@Work Sexual Harassment National Inquiry Report (2020) which we provided expert input into. The Report stated the need to immediately prioritise strategies aimed at young people and identified KLC’s #metoo – It’s About You community legal education sessions to school students as a primary prevention strategy.

Sexual Harassment and Worker Exploitation
Sexual harassment matters often involve a range of legal issues and need specialised advice and casework experience. A matter that helps to illustrate the complexity of these matters is Gina’s case. KLC represented Gina in a conciliation conference after she made a complaint of sexual harassment. Gina had been sexually harassed by her manager while working in the hospitality industry. When we spoke to Gina it became apparent that not only had Gina been sexually harassed at work, but she was still very badly affected psychologically by the harassment and had not been able to work since.

After speaking to her we realised that she had been underpaid her entitlements by approximately $10,000 – money she really needed now. Recognising that Gina was traumatised and that she might never work again we referred her for workers compensation advice. We helped Gina negotiate getting her unpaid wages without the distress of going to court. This was a great result for the long term welfare and rehabilitation of the client. Gina was thrilled by the result and the extra care taken to deal with her case holistically and she now has access to urgently needed money.

OUR IMPACT
KLC surveyed participants in its Active Bystanders, Standing up Against Sexual Harassment and Bullying. Results of the survey show:

100% of respondents found the information clear and to the point
100% of respondents found the session useful
100% of respondents felt that there was good opportunity for discussion in the session

KLC Annual Report 2020
The impact of 2020 on our Employment Clinic was massive, with the pandemic presenting challenging legal issues for our clients. The Employment Clinic worked closely with our Law Reform Solicitor to ensure our lawyers had up-to-date information about our client’s rights to JobKeeper and JobSeeker. It is fair to say that many new clients who had previously been in secure work sought our help in 2020 for employment issues.

Employment is the largest single area of advice for KLC and this work informs the Centre’s law reform submissions and community legal education programs.

Thanks to our Employment Law Pro Bono clinic partners: HWL Ebsworth, Holding Redlich, Kennedys and Bartier Perry – who soldiered on throughout the pandemic working remotely for our clients in our weekly clinic. This clinic turned 20 in 2020, having commenced way back in 2000. This partnership is highly valued by KLC for its positive impact on our clients and our students.

Special thanks also to the wonderful Alice Paul, who continues to provide advice every Tuesday on employment and discrimination matters. Alice is a gem and we are grateful to be able to provide our clients with access to someone of such expertise, empathy and kindness.

KLC’s employment clinic was very active in the community legal education space as it was so greatly impacted by COVID-19. Webinars were developed and delivered to community workers, international students and our volunteers. Factsheets and videos were developed for our COVID-19 Help Page on the KLC website including:
- COVID-19 and Workers’ Rights video
- COVID-19 and JobKeeper Factsheet
- COVID-19 and Being Stood Down Factsheet

The focus of Law Reform in the employment law space was around the impact of COVID-19 on people who held temporary visas. In 2020 KLC made a joint submission to the Senate Select Committee Inquiry into Temporary Migration arguing that these workers were hit hardest by the pandemic, increasing their vulnerability to wage theft and other breaches of workplace rights and conditions. We advocated for comprehensive workplace reform to address the exploitation of temporary visa holders.

KLC participated in the CLCNSW Employment Law Network in 2020, the CLC Australia Employment Law National Network, and worked with WestJustice, JobWatch and academics from UNSW Sydney and UTS on law reform.

Conciliation via WFH

When Martha came to us and told us her story about how she was treated at work, we knew we had to represent her. What we didn’t know was that COVID-19 had its sights on disrupting the whole world and the result was that we represented Martha in our first conciliation from home.

Martha had been working significant extra hours at work in a stressful environment. She then found out she was pregnant. Martha is not from Australia and has no family or support here apart from her husband. Things got worse at work and she struggled with health issues. The stress became too much and Martha requested leave in order to rest. This leave request was refused. Her doctor considered it in the best interests of Martha’s and her baby’s health that she take time off work, so she did. On her return to work Martha provided a medical certificate. Her employer dismissed her as they decided she was on holiday when she was supposed to be on sick leave.

KLC helped Martha lodge an application to the Fair Work Commission and represented her in the conciliation where we achieved compensation for her. We were happy that we were able to conclude this for Martha and weren’t going to let a pandemic get in the way of representing her.

Community Legal Education – Employment Law Practice

“Extremely happy with service and what you did, to think about where I could have ended up or what could have happened to me, I’m so happy you were able to help me. Thank you.”

Law Reform and Advocacy – Employment Law Practice

Partnerships

454 employment legal advices were provided to our community by KLC in 2020.

12 employment representation matters

57 employment legal task assistance matters were opened in 2020

Health Justice Partnership

Health Justice Partnerships (HJP) are a collaborative and multi-disciplinary service delivery model that make sure people can access legal assistance when they need it most. KLC entered into a HJP with the Prince of Wales Hospital (POWH) and Eastern Suburbs Mental Health Service (ESMHS) commencing in July 2019 following our successful tender bid for three years funding from the State Government through the Community Legal Centres Program administered by Legal Aid NSW. KLC Solicitor/Clinical Supervisor Emma Anderson continued in the role of HJP Solicitor in 2020. Due to the increasing number of criminal matters in particular for mental health patients KLC hired Rachel Gregory to work in the clinic to increase the capacity of the service in this area as well as to upskill staff in this area.

The pandemic meant that we had to suspend our face-to-face HJP Clinics in 2020, however, we worked hard to ensure we still received referrals from social and welfare workers and were able to provide advice to patients over the phone and by email. This service is more critical than ever, as we are able to reach vulnerable clients who would find it more difficult than ever to access legal services. We are seeing many clients with legal problems that are made more complex and urgent by the current COVID-19 pandemic, including evictions, debt and employment issues.

Thanks to the HJP Steering committee for its guidance throughout 2020. Members of the SC in 2020 were:
- Emma Maple-Brown (Herbert Smith Freehills)
- Mike Gatsi (ESMHS)
- Lynne Wheton (ESMHS)
- Peggy Yeomans (POWH)
- Andrea Durbach (UNSW)
- Elizabeth Browne (POWH)
- Emma Golledge (KLC)

Debt Worry

In 2020 KLC assisted a young man who was referred to us by a social worker. When we first saw the client, he was an inpatient at the hospital and was slowly moving towards preparing to move back home. He was very worried about some large debts and fines he knew he had but could not provide us with details. We provided him with advice in relation to the debts and fines while he was an inpatient. We were able to find out the details we needed about his fines and arranged to have them placed on hold, to allow health staff time to arrange a Work and Development Order to “work them off”.

The client was later discharged and was living in our local catchment area. We represented him against the debt recovery agent and insurer making claims against him and were successful in having his two debts worth over $6,000 completely waived.

Community Legal Education – Health Justice Partnership

The delivery of the HJP clinic’s community legal education program was moved from seminar based to online modules. In 2020 HJP staff developed and delivered:
- A HJP blog for health professionals keeping them updated on changes to laws around COVID-19
- Presentation on Confidentiality and Legal Privilege
- Presentation on Conflicts of Interest
- Presentation on Legal Referrals
- Presentation on Repairs for Public Housing Tenants

Client comment

“KLC and especially the solicitor that worked on my case was very accommodative and pleasant to work with. She listened to our case thoroughly and explained steps accordingly. Very thankful for her help!”

OUTCOMES

78 advices were provided to our HJP clients by KLC in 2020
20 HJP representation matters
50 HJP legal task assistance matters were opened in 2020
Migrant Employment Legal Service (MELS)

MELS is an innovative collaboration with Inner City Legal Centre, Marrickville Legal Centre and Redfern Legal Centre to provide a statewide employment law service to migrant workers. The service commenced on 1 July 2019, funded by the State Government through the Community Legal Centres Program administered by Legal Aid NSW. The work builds on KLC’s long running expertise in discrimination and employment law as well as our experience working with disadvantaged marginalised workers.

In 2020 experienced community legal centre lawyer Katrina Ironside worked as the MELS solicitor until August. KLC was delighted to recruit experienced community lawyer Dan Thomas to the project in October.

The MELS collaboration is managed through a Steering Committee and KLC Office Manager, Denise Wasley, represented the Centre on the Steering Committee for most of 2020 working on the promotion and profile of this important Service.

Outcomes

173 MELS advice were provided to our community by KLC in 2020

26 MELS representation matters were opened

29 MELS legal task assistance matters were opened in 2020

Community Legal Education – Migrant Employment Legal Service

COVID-19 and the changes to employment and social security law quickly became the focus of the CLE for the MELS Clinic in 2020. KLC delivered webinars to international students on COVID and employment and developed a Stand Down Employment Law Fact Sheet in the period.

KLC Helps Underpaid Worker through MELS Project

Ling came to Australia a few years ago. She has been doing casual cleaning work to support herself and her child but was not aware of all her work rights under Australian law. Ling did some cleaning work for a company that did not pay her any money for the work she performed. At the time Ling did this work she was in financial hardship and dealing with homelessness.

Ling only had a first name and a phone number for the person who organised her to do the cleaning. Ling came to KLC through MELS for help to recover the money she was owed. KLC contacted Ling’s employer and talked to them about the work Ling had performed, as well as their full details. Within a couple of days of Ling contacting KLC, the employer agreed that they still owed Ling for the work she did. KLC was also able to give Ling more information about her work rights for future work.

Client comment

“You guys are really great – fantastic”
Family Law/Family Violence Clinic

KLC’s Family Law/Family Violence Clinic was very busy in 2020. Like our local community partners and DV services we held grave concerns of the impact of lockdown on the safety of women and children. KLC worked closely with our community organisation partners to ensure that these clients were given immediate, priority legal assistance. KLC Solicitor/Clinical Supervisor Anita Will supervised this clinic in 2020.

Community Legal Education – Family Law/Family Violence Practice

12 students participated in the Family Law/Family Violence Course in 2020 and they developed and delivered four community legal education seminars in the period, including webinars around AVOs and Victims Compensation.

Law Reform and Advocacy – Family Law/Family Violence Practice

KLC remained active in this space in 2020 particularly around changes to Victims Services and coordinating, with Women’s Legal Resource Centre, the Day of Action Against Proposed Victims Support Changes.

Partnerships

KLC participated in the Eastern Suburbs Domestic Violence Network in 2020. We also relied on The Deli Women’s and Children’s Centre for their expertise on working with DV survivors. In the law reform sphere we worked closely with Women’s Legal Resource Centre and the CLCNSW Domestic Violence Network.

Domestic Violence After Separation – Special Circumstances for Waiving a Centrelink Debt

In 2020 KLC finalised a Centrelink debt matter for a client who had been a long-term victim of domestic violence from her ex-husband. Wei had been receiving Family Tax Benefit for her two sons when she separated from her husband, after nearly ten years of living with physical, sexual, financial and emotional abuse. The abuse continued for nearly three years after the separation, and Wei spent most of that time scared of further violence and moving from one private rental to another as her ex-husband consistently breached AVO conditions by stalking and intimidating her.

During this time her children moved between her and her husband, and with everything else going on, including the AVO proceedings, Wei did not realise that she needed to tell Centrelink about these constant changes in care. Centrelink later raised debts totalling $10,000 for the periods of time the children were not in her care over that time.

KLC helped Wei by collecting letters from her support workers and police file and writing submissions to an Authorised Review Officer at Centrelink to have the debt waived due to the special circumstances in her case. After a long wait we were pleased to be able to tell Wei that the debt had been fully waived and that she would receive a refund of the payments she had made towards the debt so far.

Client comment

“Anita was very easy to talk to. She is responsible, kind and warm. I am grateful for KLC’s quick service. Anita understood my issue and was very sensitive. I didn’t know what to do until I spoke to her I am very pleased.”

2020 – Our Pandemic Year at a Glance

It was a year of firsts for KLC and most of our community – we hope this will be the first and last pandemic that we all need to navigate.

JANUARY
First Troubling Signs – KLC begins to institute hand sanitizing and other safety measures but remains open to public. First cases of COVID-19 from international travellers. UNSW student tests positive.

FEBRUARY
Trying Not to Get too Worried Yet – KLC optimistically opens a new MELS outreach and continues to remain open to the public and welcomes T1 students – all in person. We start to develop offsite emergency measures and prepare for a case of COVID-19 coming into the Centre. Most KLC staff think we are joking when we start to talk to them about being ready to work from home at a moments notice.

MARCH
Reality Hits – The World Health Organisation declares a global pandemic. UNSW shifts courses and operations to a work from home model. All KLC service delivery moves to telephone based with staff working from home. Students complete the term in a remote learning model; volunteer advice nights suspended; outreaches and HJP attendance suspended. We spend the month working out the technology and how we can work from home. We welcome our new HSF secondee Pip Reeves who gets just a few days in the Centre before working from home. We really don't know what is going to hit us.

APRIL
Full Lock Down Mode – Entire legal practice delivered from the homes of staff. Clients seek our help by webform as we can’t yet divert our phones to our homes. As Australia enters national lockdown we are joined at home with our families and flat mates making confidential legal work challenging. Schools closed so KLC staff and clients balancing looking after children at home. Fiona Duane does our first conciliation from home. KLC solicitors start getting their head around new laws and policy announcements. We start to receive an overwhelming number of requests for employment law help particularly from stood down workers. We frantically work to get on top of the law and start to develop COVID-19 legal information. We swing from feeling like we are okay and managing fine to thinking we can’t do this any longer. We check in with each other regularly, and stupid meme use increases dramatically. We finalise the coalition report for Australia’s human rights review as the national lock down commences. We close the Report to provide a snapshot of Australia pre-COVID.

MAY
Getting Used to the New Status Quo – We get our phone line open. We manage to get our evening advice nights up and running again with our amazing volunteer solicitors delivering this from home. We increase appointments for our clients and notice increases in employment and housing law problems. Our HSF secondee works hard to help international students who cannot enter Australia deal with their tenancy issues. Long term pro bono friends Clayton Utz step in to offer assistance in our discrimination clinic. We start to work out the new normal and push forward to increase access to the Centre. We deliver our course – Foundations Enrichment II all online for the first time.

JUNE
Building Back Up Again – We get approval for limited access to the Centre so some staff can deal with the telephones and progress the legal work. Campus remains empty as are the roads. The Centre is silent. We hope it will once again be bustling. There is relief that COVID-19 has not hit Australia as we feared. Tess Deegan returns from parenting leave to work from home (!). From 1 June KLC is holding 3 virtual advice night sessions and we are urging our community partners to warm refer clients to us directly. Our community legal education program gets moving with webinar training for our volunteers on COVID-19 and the Law. We reach out to our partners who are helping international students who we know are very vulnerable at this time. Herbert Smith Freehills come through for KLC (again) with a donation to help us with increased COVID-19 related demand.

JULY
KLC Champions Come to Lend a Hand – David Yalpi comes back to KLC to answer our phones so we can reopen them 5 days a week. Our wonderful employment law pro bono partners continue helping clients from their own homes. KLC Solicitors deliver community legal education webinars to community workers around COVID and changes to the law. We update our Human Rights Report for the Universal Periodic Review highlighting the impact of Black Lives Matter and the gendered impact of the pandemic. We see in the Report the massive policy and legal changes in Australia since the start of the year.
AUGUST
Pushing Past the Pandemic – We start to service plan more confidently and move forward on decisions and projects we had put on the backburner. KLC welcomes new staff member Rachel Gregory who escapes Victoria (minutes) before their state lockdown to bolster our crime practice and we start planning to add a new criminal advice night. More staff tentatively start returning part time to the office – with social distancing rules. Most staff are worried about using public transport.
We start to plan the return of students to campus in September. We start to collate our legal information on a COVID-19 page on our website.

SEPTEMBER
Returning to New Normal – Our office is transformed by Roselle Nunes into a COVID-19 safe workplace. Our pamphlets and children’s toys disappear from reception, we lose use of our kitchen and our rooms are all measured for physical distancing. We welcome T3 students to the Centre – with our first online induction and the first time two day a week students have one day of project work from home. Classes continue online. We spend our days ensuring our students stay 1.5 metres away from each other. All appointments at the Centre remain by telephone.
With the return of our students, the buzz of the office returns and we are able to open up more phone lines. We manage to launch our Sexual Harassment Service – a project that we feel passionate about – some things are going right in 2020.

OCTOBER
Community Legal Education Prioritised – Our focus shifts heavily to keeping our community aware of law changes around COVID. KLC staff realise they have become webinar experts – just because they had to be – and that community workers and volunteers actually prefer this model. We welcome Dan Thomas to join us for the MELS work. We start to look forward to the end of 2020!

NOVEMBER
New COVID Solicitor Recruited – KLC is successful in obtaining a grant from the Commonwealth Government through the Community Legal Centres Program administered by Legal Aid to hire back the wonderful KLC ex-student Amy Colquhoun to work on legal matters arising from COVID. We also achieve a small tech grant to develop a SharePoint for our advice nights as we embrace the technology changes forced upon us. In November we are published in Pro Bono Vocco reflecting on the impact of COVID -19 on the Centre. We start to ask are we there yet? as the end of the year approaches.

DECEMBER
Are We There Yet? – A truly exhausted KLC staff meet at the beach for a Xmas lunch while safely physically distancing. We feel grateful to have got through the year and appreciate some of the things we took for granted. The sun is shining and the chips are hot. It’s the cheapest and best Xmas party ever.
We say goodbye to our wonderful T3 students – our pandemic cohort who get through the course safely and with much adaptability.
We can’t hold a volunteer party but we ensure we award the Paddle for 2020 – we don’t let COVID take that away from us!
We feel grateful to have got through the year together and in good health. We hope for a better 2021!

Clinical Legal Education

Clinical legal education is a way of teaching law, legal procedure and ethics. At KLC students are engaged in legal work for real clients and then analyse and reflect on this experience in a structured way. 2020 proved a particularly challenging one for our teaching program, with the impact of the pandemic requiring significant changes to our courses. In 2020 we also welcomed PLT students as part of UNSW Law for the first time.

Clinical Legal Education – Our Courses

Clinical legal education offers a range of courses and clinical components to UNSW Sydney Law students.

These are:

1st Year: Foundations Enrichment II
This is a course for first year Indigenous students focusing on communication skills, legal interviewing and the legal aid system. In 2020 this was delivered entirely online in Term 2.

2nd/3rd Year: Interviewing Component in Lawyers, Ethics and Justice
Students interview KLC clients and write a reflective assignment on it. These students are taught interviewing skills by KLC solicitors and spend five hours at the Centre in an evening legal advice session interviewing clients and working with volunteer solicitors. In 2020 this course was provided in person for the first four weeks and then moved to an online mode.

KLC Family Law/Family Violence Community Education Clinic
This course gives students the opportunity to meet and build relationships with workers in the local area and to prepare and present community legal education workshops to our local community. Students really value the course and the skills they develop are extremely useful in their careers. In Term 1 2020 this course was provided in person for the first five weeks and then moved to an online mode with classes online. In Term 3 this course returned to the Centre, with our students delivering the education by webinar.

KLC Family Law/Family Violence Community Education Clinic
Kingsford Legal Centre hosted an online session with pre-law Indigenous students in 2020 organised by the Nura Gili Centre. The Nura Gili Centre is key to improving Indigenous access to, and retention in, tertiary studies in the University. The Faculty of Law Pre-Law Program is a well-developed program with an introduction to various areas of law and excursions to expose students to a wide variety of University activities.

Indigenous Pre-Law Visit
Kingsford Legal Centre hosted an online session with pre-law Indigenous students in 2020 organised by the Nura Gili Centre. The Nura Gili Centre is key to improving Indigenous access to, and retention in, tertiary studies in the University. The Faculty of Law Pre-Law Program is a well-developed program with an introduction to various areas of law and excursions to expose students to a wide variety of University activities.

2nd/3rd Year: Interviewing Component in Lawyers, Ethics and Justice
Students interview KLC clients and write a reflective assignment on it. These students are taught interviewing skills by KLC solicitors and spend five hours at the Centre in an evening legal advice session interviewing clients and working with volunteer solicitors. In 2020 this course was provided in person for the first four weeks and then moved to an online mode.

KLC Community Law Clinic (1 Day) and (2 Days)
& KLC Employment Law Clinic (2 Days)
These are courses in which students develop their understanding of issues of social justice as well as developing interviewing, negotiation, drafting, submission writing and advocacy skills. We teach students to think critically about the law, the legal system and the place of disadvantaged clients within it. We do this through students working on client files, answering phones, working on law reform and community education projects under the supervision of clinical supervisors for one to two days each week. There is also a weekly two hour seminar program and daily one hour tutorial program for reflection on substantive issues of law and justice questions. In Term 1 2020 this course was provided in person for the first five weeks and then moved to an online mode with classes online. In Term 3 this course returned to the Centre, with two days a week students, working one day from home.

OUR IMPACT

2020 ‘MyExperience’ Survey results for our KLC Community Clinic Intensive course survey show:

100% of students agree/strongly agree that overall they were satisfied with the quality of the course.

100% of students agree/strongly agree that they felt part of a learning community

83.3% of students agree/strongly agree that feedback helped them learn

73.4% of students agree/strongly agree that the course helped them develop their ability to work effectively with others online

Student comment:
“Despite having to experience KLC during a pandemic, KLC has nevertheless been the highlight of my law school experience. I am so grateful to have been able to come into the Centre and get a glimpse of what it is like to work at a CLC. I really appreciate all the behind-the-scenes efforts it must’ve taken to keep the KLC course running this term and want to thank everyone for making it such a great experience and a memorable ending to my degree.”

KLC Annual Report 2020
Clinical Legal Education
– Our Students

Through their time at KLC, students get to experience the effects of laws on disadvantaged and vulnerable clients first-hand. This can have a profound impact on them and many students go on to volunteer at community legal centres further into their careers. Students who complete one of our courses are also ‘pro bono ready’ when they go on to work at corporate law firms.

In 2020 our clinical programs were impacted enormously by the pandemic with our LEJ students unable to participate in an interview session at the centre. T1 students were able to come into the centre for the first five weeks of the session and our T3 students participated in a mixed model of one day at KLC and working on projects from home.

Thanks to all of our wonderful clinical students from 2020 – we wish them all well into the future and hope to see many of them on our volunteer roster over the coming years.

Students Comments about their KLC Experience

“Despite the COVID restrictions I have immensely enjoyed my time at KLC. KLC gives students an opportunity to put their law degree in practice and develop a greater understanding and empathy for the experiences of the community. The KLC experience during a pandemic has also given me a taste of various remote working styles and helped me develop my ability to communicate via online forums.”

T3 student comment

“the opportunity to work with amazing people of course! I think this course gives a unique opportunity different to volunteering at another CLC or similar law centre in that the course and the supervisors are geared towards teaching and building students up into great lawyers”.

KLC Annual Report 2020
Our Volunteers

KLC has a roster of over 80 experienced solicitor volunteers. This year, they provided over 3,000 hours of legal help to our clients. Our wonderful vol sols met the challenge of COVID-19 and swiftly moved to a remote model of advice in 2020. We are so grateful for their continued commitment to our clients and students and want to thank them all for sticking with us through the good and the bad times!

In 2020 we surveyed our vol sols to check how they were faring. We found that whilst they were coping well and focusing on the positives of remote advices (no commuting!) overwhelmingly they missed the collegiate, social, fun side of volunteering. Many missed the interaction with clients and our students.

These volunteers come from a diverse range of backgrounds and bring a wealth of skills, knowledge and expertise. They staff our advice nights on Monday (fortnightly) and Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday every week.

Special thanks to Alice Paul who comes in weekly to give pro bono employment/discrimination law advice, Dave McMillan for being our ‘recruitment panel guy’ and Will Droiz-Parker whose tech support we cannot live without!

This year was really testament to our wonderful allies who went above and beyond to help keep KLC going.

Congrats to Fiona Robson for winning the highly sought after and extremely prestigious KLC Paddle award for 2020

KLC Staff enjoying a COVID safe meet up

Our Steering Committee

Kingsford Legal Centre appreciates the contribution made by our Steering Committee members during 2020. The committee met three times during the year: in April, August and November and provided valuable direction on several issues arising throughout the year. Thank you to Associate Professor Sean Brennan for chairing the committee and to the committee members: Professor George Williams, Dean Faculty of Law (UNSW) (April Meeting), Professor Andrew Lynch, Acting Dean Faculty of Law (UNSW) (November Meeting), Anne Cregan – Partner Gilbert & Tobin (April, August and November Meetings) Fei Wong – Faculty Executive Director (April, August and November Meetings). Janet Green – General Manager Junction Neighbourhood Centre (April, August and November Meetings). KLC staff welcomes the Steering Committee’s commitment and support of the Centre and looks forward to working closely with its members again in 2021.
Our Aboriginal Advisory Group

The Aboriginal Advisory Group continued to be a valuable and supportive group to KLC in 2020, particularly in the absence of an Aboriginal Access Worker throughout the year. KLC is very grateful for their generous commitment to our centre. Members of the AAG in 2019 were: Emma Langton, Ron Timbery, Sharon Smith, John Leha and Robyn Murphy.
Our Pro Bono Programs

KLC struggles to meet the huge demand on our service, so working with private law firms’ pro bono programs increases our capacity to help people with their legal problems. KLC has two major pro bono programs which greatly increase our capacity to help our clients. This ability to partner with corporate law firms to improve access to justice for disadvantaged clients is a unique feature of community legal centres.

Since 1992 Herbert Smith Freehills has provided KLC with secondee solicitors, on a six-month rotation basis. This is an extraordinary pro bono commitment which greatly enhances KLC’s capacity to provide advice and casework to disadvantaged members of our community. Secondee solicitors take on a caseload, attend the South Eastern Connect Community Centre outreach as well as many home, hospital and prison visits. These solicitors participate in all parts of KLC’s service including teaching law students, delivering community legal education sessions and attending community events.

Herbert Smith Freehills Secondees to KLC 2020

What’s That Time Zone? Our Herbert Smith Freehills Secondee Goes International

When the pandemic was declared many international students faced tough decisions - some were stranded in their home countries unable to enter Australia to study as planned, while others left Australia urgently to get home. As these decisions were made in a hurry, many students could not resolve all their tenancy issues, so did not manage to have their bonds refunded or properly negotiate with their landlords about ending their leases. Many UNSW students contacted KLC at this time for assistance, as being overseas made it even trickier than usual to sort these things out. That’s where Pip Reeves stepped in! She was our amazing secondee solicitor from Herbert Smith Freehills from March to September 2020. Pip organised calls by Zoom and Skype to reach these students, calculating time differences from Singapore to Sweden, helping students write letters and fill out Tribunal application forms, and getting great results.

One of her clients sent the following feedback for Pip:

“I feel really happy with this outcome and really happy I pursued trying to get some money back instead of just letting it go. I owe you a huge thanks as well for your time and the hard work you spent on this for me as well.”

KLC’s Employment Clinic has been running a pro bono advice clinic with law firms for 20 years. Every Wednesday during semester, a solicitor from one of the four participating firms on our roster – HWL Ebsworth, Holding Redlich, Kennedys and Bartier Perry – attends KLC to give employment advice to our clients and to work with our students. The pro bono clinic significantly increases our capacity to help people with employment law problems and is also a great experience for our students to work with fantastic specialist employment lawyers.

Our long term pro bono friends Clayton Utz also stepped in to help in May when we were overwhelmed and working from home, providing their discrimination law expertise to our clients.

Ella Alexander from Makinson d’Apice joined our pro bono team late in 2020 giving discrimination advice to our community weekly. Ella came on smack bang in the middle of the pandemic and took it all in her stride.

Without the amazing support of our pro bono partners we simply couldn’t have got through the year!
